

Routesetting Committee Bio – IAN MCINTOSH

Bio:

Since the initial setting light bulb was illuminated at a workshop taught by Tony Yanero in 2001, Ian has pursued setting in commercial and competition scenes as well as personally on his home wall for the pure joy of creating movement. As the newest member to the committee, he looks forward to helping USAC continue to develop the route setting certification process and competition setting standards. As an owner of Mesa Rim Climbing Center in San Diego, Ian brings a background in business and strategic planning to the committee.
